Jürgen Busch currently works in the administration of the Austrian Academy of Sciences (OeAW), the biggest non-university research institution in Austria. There he holds the position of the head of unit of the Academy's in-house Grant Service, in charge of the management of the consultation, information, training and support activities involved in the application and implementation of (EU-)research grants.

He studied history, political science, law, and legal theory in Vienna, Leuven, and Brussels. Before joining the OeAW in 2014 he worked as pre-doc researcher and project manager in the fields of Legal History, Comparative Constitutional and EU-Law, and Jurisprudence at the Universities of Vienna (AT) and Lucerne (CH) and as an Erasmus programme manager at the Austrian Exchange Service (OeAD).

Besides, he also works part-time as a university lecturer, currently giving regular classes in Jurisprudence and Legal Skills at the law schools of the University of Vienna and the Masaryk University of Brno. He is also member of the board of the European Academy of Legal Theory's postgraduate master programme (LL.M.) in Legal Theory at the Goethe University Frankfurt/Main and member of the Council of the European Forum Alpbach.
