

Curriculum vitae

Sara Mansour Fallah holds a law degree from the University of Vienna (Mag. iur.) and an LL.M. in International and Comparative Law from the George Washington University Law School, which she attended with a Fulbright and Thomas Buergenthal Scholarship.

Before rejoining the University of Vienna, she worked as Judicial Fellow to H. E. President Abdulkawi A. Yusuf at the International Court of Justice in The Hague for one year. Her previous work experience also includes an internship in the English case management team at the International Center for Settlement of Investment Disputes (ICSID) in Washington, D.C., as well as a clerkship at Austrian civil and criminal courts. She also previously served as Student Assistant, Project Assistant and Researcher and Lecturer in Public International Law at the University of Vienna.

In September 2020 she was admitted to the New York Bar as Attorney-at-law.

She competed in the Philip C. Jessup International Law Moot Court as part of Austria's team and completed the Summer Courses at the Hague Academy of International Law.

She is a Ph.D. Candidate, writing her thesis on 'Judicial Expropriations in International Investment Law'. She has researched and published on subjects such as international courts and tribunals, international investment law and international procedural law.
