

Katharina Tuidar currently works as a research assistant in Professor Michael Waibel's team in the Department of International Law at the University of Vienna. She is currently studying for a master's degree in international law at the University of Vienna.

She gained practical experience in international law by participating in the Philip C. Jessup International Law Moot Court, where she reached the finals of the European rounds with the University of Vienna team in 2025 and placed among the top 32 worldwide in the international rounds.

She gained further insights into international law during an Erasmus semester at KU Leuven in Belgium in the summer semester of 2024.